

Examples of Cities Supporting Universal Preschool

City	Description of Support
Redwood City	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Adopted a resolution to support the concept of Universal Preschool.</li> <li>• The City of Redwood City in-kinds office space and administrative costs for a .25 employee from First 5 San Mateo County who conducts outreach, coordination, planning and marketing of Universal Preschool in Redwood City. The financial impact on Redwood City has not yet been determined.</li> </ul>
Mountain View	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Will attend meetings with First 5 Santa Clara County to stay abreast of Universal Preschool developments.</li> </ul>
San Jose	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Facilitate the planning and permit process for preschool facilities by providing guidance to child care providers about fees, permits, and licensing (this services is routinely performed as part of the City of Sunnyvale's Child Care Resources program); and</li> <li>• Routinely meet with representatives from First 5 Santa Clara County.</li> </ul>
Los Angeles	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Adopted a resolution to support the concept of Universal Preschool; and</li> <li>• Facilitate the planning and permit process for preschool facilities by providing guidance to preschool providers about fees, permits, and licensing</li> </ul>
San Francisco	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• First city in California to commit local funds to the Universal Preschool effort;</li> <li>• Budgeted $3.3 million in the 2005/2006 budget for Universal Preschool; and</li> <li>• Allocates $150,000 per fiscal year to San Francisco City College to make early childhood development classes available to child care providers in their community in the evenings and on weekends.</li> </ul>